FOUGHT OVER A GIRL.

With Knife and Pistol Two Men Battle in a Room.

Louis Martin Badly Wounded by Bullet and Blade.

Thomas Erickson Has a Big Gash in His Neck.

Two men fought over a girl in Peter Jackson's saloon, at 444 Atlantic avenue, Brooklyn, this morning. As a result of the fight, one of the men is in a very critical condition. The other occupies a cell in Raymond street jail, awaiting the result of his victim's injuries.

The men are Louis Martin, twenty-five years old, of 429 Atlantic avenue, Brooklyn, and Thomas Erickson, twenty-three, of 76 Nevins street. For a long time they have been courting the same girl. Both men say that she is pretty, but refuse to divulge her name. Their rivalry for the young woman's affections caused such a feeling of bitterness that they quarreled on several former occasions, but never came to blows.

They met again at 1 o'clock this morning in a back room in Carlson's saloon. They renewed the quarrel. The barkeeper heard their angry words. He started back to separate them. As he entered the room, Erickson struck Martin in the face with his fist.

Martin whipped a sailor's knife out of his pocket. He made a vicious lunge at his opponent. The blade entered Erickson's neck. Erickson then drew a revolver and fired one shot. He followed this up by striking Martin on the head and taking the knife away from him.

Martin struggled to regain possession of the weapon. Erickson jabbed the knife into Martin's chest, back and left hand.

Both men were covered with blood, but they were still fighting when Policeman Krumpel, of the Butler street station, arrived and arrested them.

Surgeon Shattuck, who was called to attend the men, found that Martin had been dangerously wounded. He was removed to the City Hospital. The surgeons could not then tell whether the bullet had entered Martin's body, but to-day they discovered that the ball was lodged in his chest.

Erickson was locked up in the Butler street station. When arraigned before Justice Tighe, in the Butler Street Court, this morning, he pleaded not guilty. He was remanded for examination.

This is the sequel to a lively time at the Hotel Wellington, Broadway and Dunham place last night. Kelly arrived at the hotel shortly after 9 o'clock, accompanied by a woman, and was shown to room 5, on the second floor. A few minutes later the young man entered the hotel and knocked at the door of room 5. Kelly opened the door, and the two men rushed in. Tappan came to town last night after dark, and went to the house of his brother, Tom Tappan. During the evening he became engaged in a row with his brother's clerk. The boy, at daylight this morning, went to Officer Odell's house and told him that Tappan was in town and where he could be found.

Odell and Giroux immediately went to the house opposite the Congregational church. Odell went to the back door and left Giroux at the front. For a long time they waited, but no one came out. Odell then started on a run, with both officers at his heels. Tappan was proving himself a fast runner, and was soon out of sight. Odell and Giroux fired a shot in the air to warn him to surrender. Tappan, who was a startled jump and said: "Don't shoot me, I surrender." He was loaded in jail, where he was held in a cell. A big sensation in this town is being made by the fact that Tappan was a tool in the hands of other parties whose good permanently got me in the hole. The people are way up, too, but I'll kick up the biggest scandal this town ever saw if they don't come to my rescue and share the disgrace.

Insurance Broker and 17-Year-Old Girl Take a Train Together.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Oct. 20.—Ewald Her Kermann, an insurance broker here, has disappeared, leaving a wife and four children. Freda Lauck, seventeen years old, daughter of Richard Lauck, a machinist, who lives at 45 Elizabeth street, has been missing since 9 o'clock yesterday morning.

Her Kermann, who has been paying attention to her secretly for some time, had been forbidden by her father to visit the house.

Accompanied by her brother Herbert, sixteen years old, the girl left the house yesterday morning. The pair have been traced by the police to the Pennsylvania railroad station, where they met the insurance broker. The three took a train for New York.

Mrs. Lauck is indignant over the disappearance of her children. The insurance broker's wife is nearly distracted. Her Kermann is about thirty-three years old.

When the unfortunate woman heard the verdict, she wept bitterly, and was hurriedly taken back to the jail. Senator Barrett, her counsel, promptly filed the case in the county court, and asked for a new trial, and will probably appear in the higher courts if it is decided that he is in the right.

After four hours and twenty-five minutes' deliberation, the jury in her trial found the defendant guilty of manslaughter in the first degree. The extreme penalty for this crime is ten years' imprisonment.
